

Life in 2050

Have you ever wondered what life would be like in the light in the future? Do you think we would still be on Earth? Well, I'm here to tell you about what the life might be like in 2050.

When you think about 2050, you imagine flying cars and robots. You might be right because innovations these days have come quite far. For example, robots help you with your chores so you can spend time with your family or anti-ageing medicine makes you look younger and healthier!

2015 would have better global improvements like world peace. Countries that are fighting right now may come together to make the world a better place. We may have less pollution and clean energy because of the help of people all around the world.

Life in 2050 may not be all good though. We would not have the animals that are here right now like polar bears and exotic birds due to global warming and deforestation. As we go nearer to 2050, there might be more and more people so overpopulation might be a problem too.

All in our 2050 is a great era to work forward to despite the global issues with all the new innovations and improvements to our world.

By Future Features,
Chris Wong